Comments to Author :

Reviewer1 :

Mark the text of the revised paper in red.

The use of et al. in text footnotes is from the second occurrence, and the surnames of all authors are written in the first occurrence.

Titles and keywords start with a capital letter for each word.

Distribution-related words should be added to titles, keywords, introductions and conclusions

References should be made only in journal articles or books. Avoid literature such as dissertations, Internet materials, and reports. Journal articles in the reference must have volume, issue, and page information.

Reviewer2 :

References should be edited in APA style.

You have to revise and submit your manuscript according to the attached template file.

Reviewer3 :

The authors attempt to examine the antecedent factors for improving hotel performance in Bali, Indonesia. The study uses Structural Equation Modelling (SEM) with smartPLS software. This study successfully reveals that the performance of five-star hotels in Bali is influenced by market orientation, revenue management orientation, competitive advantage, dynamic capability, and pricing capability factors. However, several points should be considered to improve this paper.
